Dear Mr Newell:

Will you be so kind as to tell me if either of the two coins are of value and if so is there a market for them -

One coin, a two-cent piece minted in 1870, has no letter beneath the wreath, - it is slightly worn tho the figures on both sides are plainly visible.

The other coin a Silver dollar minted in 1860, in very good condition, has the letter O.

I would appreciate this information.

Sincerely -

(Mrs) Eva Perzina.

Dear Madam:

Mr. Newell has requested me to answer your communication to him. Unfortunately, neither of your two coins have any premium. Presumably a dealer would charge $1.10 or $1.25 for the silver dollar but would give you no more than face. The two-cent piece being worn is not suitable for a collection.

Very truly yours,

Curator
